You have Happy Hour, and then you have Yappy Hour.

The Burleson Animal Shelter and Lost Oak Winery are teaming up for the second annual Yappy Hour on Friday, July 13, 7 p.m.-10 p.m., at the winery.

The shelter staff will bring adoptable pets to Yappy Hour for on-site adoption. Yappy Hour is open to the public. There is no fee to attend. Adoption fees range from $55 to $65 and include basic vaccinations and microchipping. Depending on the age of the animal, the fee also includes a rabies vaccination voucher and heartworm and FELV (feline leukemia virus) test. Guests may bring their own pets. Leashes are strongly advised for all pets who attend.

The winery will be serving a special called Pooch Punch (a white sangria). The winery will also have a vendor selling all natural and organic food/treats. He will bring samples.

Since the dogs are the stars of the night, the winery will have treats for the dogs. There is a large grassy area between the winery's tasting room and the vineyards where the adoptable pets and the attendee's pets can roam. Owners are asked to clean up after their pets at Yappy Hour.

A portion of the proceeds from Yappy Hour will be donated to the animal shelter.

For more information, call Lost Oak Winery at 817-426-6625 or the Burleson Animal Shelter at 817-426-9283. Keep up with what dogs and cats are available at www.burlesontx.com/petadoptions. The winery is located at 2116 FM 731 in Burleson.
