The City of Burleson's fire marshal has been working in his field of expertise for more than 20 years. Stacy Singleton is one of more than half a dozen City employees currently elected to top leadership positions in regional, state or national associations.

The fire marshal started his two-year term as president of the Texas chapter of the International Association of Arson Investigators (IAAI) in March of 2012. The Texas chapter is one of the largest chapters of the IAAI. Prior to his presidency, Singleton was vice president of the Texas chapter for two years. He also served two three-year terms on the Texas board of directors prior to being elected as vice president.

The International Association of Arson Investigators, Inc. (IAAI) is an association of more than 5,000 fire investigation professionals from across the world, united by a strong commitment to suppress the crime of arson through professional fire investigation. The IAAI is the global resource for fire investigation training, technology, research and professional development.

Singleton was hired as fire marshal by the City of Burleson in 1991. But he served as a volunteer firefighter, then a volunteer fire captain, with the Burleson Fire Department for 26 years, beginning in 1984. Burleson's volunteer firefighting program was phased out in October 2010.
