The Burleson Animal Shelter and Lost Oak Winery are teaming up for another Yappy Hour on Friday, April 24, 7 p.m.-10 p.m., at the winery. Shelter staff will bring adoptable pets to Yappy Hour for on-site adoptions.

The event is open to the public. Animal shelter staff will be shuttling adoptable pets to the winery from the 775 S.E. John Jones Dr. Burleson Animal Shelter site. Adoption fees range from $55 to $65 and include basic vaccinations and microchipping. Depending on the age of the adoptable pet, the fee also includes a rabies vaccination voucher and heartworm and FELV (feline leukemia virus) test. If you want to see what adoptable pets may be at Yappy Hour, check out the Burleson Animal Services page, <http://bit.ly/BASadoptablepets>, on April 24.

Guests are encouraged to bring their own pets. Leashes are strongly advised for all pets that attend. There is a large grassy area between the winery's tasting room and the vineyards where the adoptable pets and the attendee's pets can mingle and roam. This event is a great way for pet owners to socialize their dogs in a low-key environment. Owners are asked to clean up after their pets.

Lost Oak Winery is located at 2116 FM 731. The winery will be serving Pooch Punch (white Sangria) for the humans and will have homemade dog treats for sale for the pets. The entertainment for Yappy Hour is Vintage Unplugged. Check out their Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/vintageunplugged>.
