No one likes to pay a municipal court citation, but the Burleson Municipal Court is trying to make it a little easier on you by extending the office hours on two Fridays in February.

On February 19 and February 26, the Burleson Municipal Court office at the Ron Harmon Sub-Courthouse will be open, 8 a.m.-7 p.m. The courthouse is located at 247 Elk Dr., across from Burleson High School. Normal court hours are 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and 9 a.m. -4:30 p.m. on Wednesdays.

You also have the option of paying some Municipal Court payments online. The Online Citations system will allow you to look up the status of citations and pay them over a secure Internet connection using a credit card. This system gives the public real-time access to pay citations at their convenience - 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. But there are guidelines.

For more information on what can be paid online, and how to do it, go to the Municipal Court Online Payment page, <http://bit.ly/MunicipalCtonlinepay>, on the City of Burleson website.
