Choose network providers for your lab tests

Choose UnitedHealthcare network laboratory providers

You have the right to ask your doctor to send your lab samples to a network laboratory. You can search myuhc.com® for more than 1,300 laboratory providers in our network. Don't run the risk of your laboratory work being referred out-of-network and potentially paying a higher cost. If your doctor uses a laboratory that is not included in the official myuhc.com laboratory directory, call customer care to confirm whether the laboratory is in our network.

Network laboratories save you money

You get the best value from your benefit plan and help to manage health insurance costs when you choose network laboratories.

- Your copayments may be higher when using an out-of-network laboratory.
- Your share of the bill, called coinsurance, may be higher when using an out-of-network laboratory.
- You may receive a bill from an out-of-network laboratory for the difference between your out-of-network benefit and the amount the out-of-network laboratory charges for the service. You should note that network laboratories will not "balance bill" you for covered services they provide.
